PART 1 General part

Adoption

This degree statute was adopted by the dean on 5 July 2022, after consent was received from the degree committee on 07 June 2022, and consent from the school council on 30 June 2022.

1 About the degree statute

The Higher Education and Research Act stipulates in article 7.59 that an institution such as HAN University of Applied Sciences (hereafter HAN) is obliged to adopt and publish a student charter. The Student Charter consists of two parts: the institution-specific part (which we call the 'Student Charter') and the degree-specific part (which we call the 'Degree Statute').

The degree statute consists of three parts:

- Part 1: General part.
- Part 2: The Education and Examination Regulations, which outline the education, final assessments, exams and modular exams for your degree course.
- Part 3: Other regulations.

Part 1 is purely informative. No rights can be derived from it. Rights and obligations can be derived from the other parts; these are legally applicable regulations.

1.1 Which degree course does this degree statute apply to?

This is the Degree Statute for the following HAN degree course:

Degree course	Degree format	CROHO number	Degree after graduation
B Social Work	Full-time	34116	Bachelor of Social Work

This degree statute contains information on the structure, organisation and execution of the degree course, the student facilities, counselling and study coaching, the education and examination regulations and the degree-specific regulations that describe student rights and responsibilities. When this document refers to 'the degree course', this means the above degree course.

1.2 How do you read this degree statute?

We use regular UK spelling rules.

When we use 'you', we mainly mean you as an internal or external student enrolled in this degree course at HAN. But we also mean others, such as prospective students.

1.3 How long is the degree statute valid for?

A new degree statute is written for each HAN degree course every academic year. The degree statute for a certain academic year applies to everyone enrolled in the degree course for that academic year. It does not matter which phase of your degree course you are in, whether you are an internal or external student, nor when you started. You can find the digital version of your degree statute here: OnderwijsOnline, HAN-Insite and www.han.nl.

This degree statute applies to the 2022-2023 academic year: from 1 September 2022 to 31 August 2023. For students starting their degree course on 1 February 2023, two different degree statutes apply consecutively during their first 'year': the current one and that of the next academic year.

Did you enrol in a previous academic year for the propaedeutic or post-propaedeutic phase of the degree course? And is the degree course using a new curriculum or modified education and examination regulations? Then certain provisions in the education and examination regulations will apply from a degree statute from a previous academic year.

1.4 How does the degree statute come about?

The degree statute for the degree course is adopted by the dean each year. This is based on the model degree statute: a model that applies for the entire HAN.

The school council exercises the participation rights on the degree statute, but only in so far as the HAN participation council has not already exercised these rights through the model degree statute and in so far as these rights have not been conferred to the degree committee. How this works exactly is set out in the participation council regulations and the Regulations of the Degree Committee.

Advice is requested in advance from the degree course's board of examiners.

The relevant HAN organisational bodies strive to publish the new degree statute each year before 1 July.

1.5 Consistency of degree statute, student charter and enrolment regulations

The Degree Statute is part of the Student Charter. The Student Charter applies to the entire HAN. The Student Charter lists all the rights and obligations of students and HAN. The Student Charter can be found here: Rights and responsibilities \(hanuniversity.com\).

You can find the rules for application, admission, educational requirements, selection and enrolment in the Enrolment regulations. These apply to all degree courses. The degree statute contains only a number of specific additions to this. These additions may not contradict the rules in the enrolment regulations.

The enrolment regulations can be found at: Practical info about International Social Work at HAN \(hanuniversity.com\).

2 Education at HAN

Your degree course is part of the HAN educational offerings. HAN has an overarching mission and vision on higher education. Your degree course embodies this vision in its own way. HAN's mission and vision are described in the HAN Institutional Plan. You can find this plan on www.han.nl.

3 Information about your degree course

3.1 Mission and vision of your degree course

The mission of Social Work at HAN is to train the social workers of the future. Our graduates are creative, inquisitive and entrepreneurial. They have a solid foundation of knowledge and possess key methodological skills. They are willing and able to cooperate with one another and with other professionals, and they have a strong international orientation. Our aim in the Social Work programme is to make a sustainable contribution to the quality and development of social work as a profession.

Studying at a university of applied sciences prepares you for work in your future professional field. In the HAN Social Work degree course, this preparation consists of three elements: becoming competent (qualification), becoming part of the professional community (socialisation) and your personal development (Bildung).

- Qualification refers to the development of competences: the knowledge, skills and attitude required of a starting social worker at the university of applied sciences level.
- Socialisation means that you gradually become part of the professional community of social workers. You learn to demonstrate the value of social work for individuals and society. You develop a sense of shared responsibility for the profession as well as your own professionalism, meaning you will continue to learn and develop even after completing your degree.
- Personal development (Bildung) refers to the values and convictions that you bring to your work as a social worker. Social work is a normative profession: the international definition of social work¹ indicates that social workers strive for social justice, respect for diversity and the maintenance of human rights. As a social worker, you will make personal choices that shape your approach to your profession, based on a critical, inquisitive attitude.

The world is changing rapidly, and professions are changing along with it. The Social Work programme at HAN works closely with the professional field to prepare you for the profession not just as it is now, but as it will be in the future.

3.2 Content and organisation of your degree course

Content of the degree course

In the propaedeutic phase (1st year) of the Social Work degree course, you receive a broad introduction to the profession of social worker. You seek answers to the following questions: What does the work involve? Who will I work with? What are their circumstances, backgrounds, experiences and needs? What will my duties be? How do I approach my work methodically? What knowledge and skills will I need? What professional attitude is expected of me? Am I suited to the work, and will I enjoy it?

¹ Global Definition of the Social Work Profession, as formulated by the International Federation of Social Workers (IFSW) and the International Association of Schools of Social Work (IASSW): 'Social work is a practice-based profession and an academic discipline that promotes social change and development, social cohesion, and the empowerment and liberation of people. Principles of social justice, human rights, collective responsibility and respect for diversities are central to social work. Underpinned by theories of social work, social sciences, humanities and indigenous knowledge, social work engages people and structures to address life challenges and enhance wellbeing.'

In the main phase (the 2nd, 3rd and 4th years), you explore the issues in more depth and begin to make your own choices. Which target groups would you like to focus on? A certain age group or people with a particular type of problem? Do you enjoy the challenge of helping people with serious, chronic issues, or would you prefer to work on prevention or do you like the challenge of guiding people who are facing more severe or long-term problems? In this phase, you further expand your knowledge and skills. Collaboration is a fixture of the programme at all times: the problems social workers encounter are complex, and invariably require cooperation with other social workers or professionals from different fields.

The education provided in the Social Work degree course is structured in levels with increasing complexity and a higher degree of independence and responsibility throughout the degree course. In the first year (propaedeutic phase), the units of study are at level 1. In the second year, main phase 1, they are at level 2 and in the third and fourth years at level 3.

This looks as follows in diagram form:

		Degree of independence/responsibility for the student's contribution
		low	medium	high
Degree of complexity in the student's contribution	low	Level 1
	medium		Level 2
	high			Level 3

The Social Work degree has three learning routes: the regular, the Euregional (phasing out) and the international route.

Regular route

The regular route (also known as the standard track) is taught in Dutch and trains students for the Bachelor of Social Work diploma, with the option to choose from three profiles: 'Youth professional', 'Health care', 'Community development and inclusive society'. The text under 'course content' gives you an idea of the most important aspects and issues covered in the regular route.

Euregional route

The Euregional route is phasing out starting the academic year 2022-2023. Like the regular route, the Euregional route leads to the degree Bachelor of Social Work with a choice between three profiles: 'Youth professional', 'Health care' or 'Community development and inclusive society'. The Euregional route, however, has an international emphasis focused on the Dutch-German EUREGIO. The Euregional route is bilingual (Dutch/German). If you follow this route you prepare to work in the Euregio after graduation: both in Germany and in the Netherlands. You will also be able to tackle cross-border problems.

In many respects, the Netherlands and Germany face comparable social problems and challenges. Yet our countries differ in how we look for solutions. These differences can be attributed to different cultural and political traditions, but also to different legal and healthcare systems. In the Euregional route, Dutch and German students work together to prepare for their future careers both in the Netherlands and in Germany. Assignments, practical training and supplementary content are specially tailored to train students to explore and question social and cultural contexts from a German and Dutch perspective and to interpret them in their own way.

The Euregional route also gives students who want to work in Germany the opportunity to prepare for the 'Staatliche Anerkennung' (national accreditation) for social workers in Germany. Some German institutions require employees to have this 'Staatliche Anerkennung'. There are two options to earn the 'Staatliche Anerkennung'. Option 1 is to take a specified minor: Die Kunst der Inklusion – Euregio macht's recht. Option 2 is additional study in the form of a talent programme (see: section 5.3 Talent programme in Part 2).

International route (ISW)

Taught in English, the International Social Work route allows you to follow part or all of the Social Work degree course in an international classroom. As in the regular route, you will obtain the degree Bachelor of Social Work. If you choose the International Social Work route, you also choose the profile 'Community development and inclusive society', because this route best fits this profile. Finally, you can also follow a few parts, e.g. 1 semester programme, of the degree course in this route.

Global issues and crises such as war, poverty, religious conflicts, migration and natural disasters call for more than merely short-term solutions. Matters of social justice, quality of life and inclusion demand an active contribution from socially minded professionals. Here in the Netherlands, too, we are faced with more and more issues with an international and intercultural dimension. Sustainable social development therefore requires an international approach. In this route, working alongside students of diverse nationalities, you prepare for work in an international setting. In your 2nd year, you explore the global context of social work. In your 3rd and 4th year, you do an internship abroad, for example with an NGO focused on sustainable social change.

Thinking and acting creatively

The topic of creative thinking and acting receives special attention in the HAN Social Work degree course. Social workers are faced with complex questions against the backdrop of a rapidly changing world and myriad new technologies. In this context, they need the capacity to view things from different perspectives, take a variety of different actions and make novel use of different resources and techniques. HAN offers a range of subjects to help you develop your skills in thinking and acting creatively. This includes arts-related and other subjects that offer non-verbal and experiential methods such as music, drama, body, movement and dance, arts, audio-visual development, work and play & sports. There are also subjects in which you learn to use language & storytelling, social technology or where you learn to experiment and invent social solutions (creative design). In the propaedeutic phase you get an introduction on various subjects. In the main phase you choose which of these subjects you want to specialise in.

International orientation

The Social Work degree course aims to train professionals who can deal with cultural diversity and bring an international perspective to bear on their profession, whether they work in their own country or abroad. We place value, therefore, on preparing you for a professional field with an increasingly intercultural character. By exploring the international aspects of your future profession and, conversely, learning to view your profession from an international perspective, you become a better, more critically minded professional. There is, for instance, the to do part(s) of your internship and/or programme (e.g. the minor) abroad (see also section 3.7 and section 7.3.2 on the International Office and Mandatory preparation module for study/internship abroad).

International Week. International Week will be held in week 1 of period 3 during the academic year of 2022-2023. The purpose of this International Week is to expose you to social work in an international context. During this week, all second-year students are offered a full programme of lectures and workshops on international developments in the field, cultural differences, (international) organisations and the methodologies used.

World Social Work Day. World Social Work Day will be held on 21 March 2023. World Social Work Day is celebrated across the world. This is one day of the year when we reflect on the achievements and successes of social work. Students, teachers and professionals from the field discuss important topics and developments in social work in a variety of formats.

Organisation of the degree course

The degree course is divided into semester programmes of six months each. Each semester focuses on a different theme and enables you to learn and work in different professional contexts. You need not follow the semester programmes in a particular order, although you do the semester programmes associated with level 1 in your 1st year, level 2 in your 2nd year, and level 3 in your 3rd and 4th years. At level 3, you do three semester programmes, focused on your chosen profile: Orientation in Practice, Implementation in Practice and Improving Practice. The fourth semester programme you follow is a Minor. There is no fixed order. You can start with Profile Orientation or the Minor. Once you have done the Profile Orientation semester programme, you can choose whether you first want to do Implementation in Practice or Improving Practice.

In the 1st and 2nd years, your cohort is divided into core groups, with two fixed lecturers per group. One of these lecturers is also your study coach. You either receive lessons as a group or divided into subgroups. Your group will come to feel like home to you: these are the students and lecturers you will see most.

Minor

The minor is an education component you are mostly completely free to choose, based on your own interests. You can opt for a differentiation, specialisation or a transfer minor. A differentiation minor is an orientation in another field. A specialisation minor is a specialisation in your own field. A transfer minor is a minor that prepares you for a master degree at a university or university of applied sciences. The choice of your minor allows you to distinguish yourself from other students. For more information on minors, see chapter 4 in the EER.

Your choice of learning route or profile can affect your choice of minor. Students who want to use their degree to register as an accredited mental health worker (in Dutch: GGZ-agoog) need to complete the 'GGZ-agoog' minor. Choosing the Euregional or the international route also has consequences for your choice of minor. Read more about this under the relevant route.

3.3 How we educate and supervise

Throughout the degree course, you learn through a combination of classes, practical experience, self-study and online learning. This applies to every year of study and every semester programme. This way you develop new competences – such as a professional attitude – in line with the focus of the semester programme. To this end you receive guidance from a wide variety of people: your core group lecturers, fellow students (in class, in subgroups or online), internship supervisor, a researcher or others in a professional learning community.

Basic knowledge and skills

In addition to learning in the field, in the first years you will also start learning basic knowledge and skills. This is crucial, because you will not necessarily encounter every part of your future profession in practice. Dedicated attention and effort is needed to gain a thorough grasp of the basic knowledge and how it all connects. It is essential to practise different skills step by step until they become second nature. In the 'knowledge learning pathway', you build a strong foundation of knowledge as required by a professional social worker. In the 'skills learning pathway' you practise methodological, research and language skills.

Self-management

This degree course gives you many opportunities to practise active learning and to acquire skills that help you to continue your professional development even after your studies. The focus is not only on the successful completion of your degree, but also on the ability to perform successfully in the professional field over an extended period of time. Towards the end of the degree course, we naturally expect more from you in terms of self-management than at the beginning. Ultimately, you are responsible for your own progress and development, but where necessary your study coach will advise and assist you. Self-management is about HOW you learn (increasingly independently) and WHAT you learn (choosing the content). You can read about the different options in section 3.7.

Examination and assessment

During tests you are always assessed according to the final qualifications for Social Work. Depending on the assignment, each test focuses on specific qualifications. The programme includes different types of tests such as reports, performances, knowledge tests, video documents, etc. A number of test assignments are directly related to practical work experience. These assignments are designed in cooperation with the staff at your place of work.

You have two opportunities per academic year to take a test. This means you can retake a test once per academic year. An assessment is conducted by an assessor from the programme. Your work placement supervisor and sometimes your fellow students can also play an important (advisory) role at certain times. Before your test is assessed, it has to fulfil certain predefined test conditions. The tests help you to see if you are making sufficient progress and what you can do to work towards your target goals (the qualifications).

All information relating to tests, such as the test assignments and the procedures for handing in, administering and assessing the tests, is available in the relevant test instructions section on the OnderwijsOnline platform.

Study coaching

HAN is committed to supporting students during their studies and in their choice of minors or specialisations. Study coaching is an integral part of this. Your study coach helps you to develop the self-management skills you need to complete your studies. He or she is also your first point of contact in extenuating circumstances, for example if your studies are not going as planned or if you have a disability or chronic illness. Your study coach can help you look for ways to improve your progress. In addition, he or she helps you choose a minor and a profile in the main phase of your degree course.

What we expect of students

Whether you reach your goals largely depends on how much effort you put in. We expect you to carefully consider your options during the learning process, to take active part in the programme, to be present and to make time for self-study. Only then can you successfully complete your degree. You will be busy, but you will reap the rewards in the future: you will soon be qualified to work in an exciting field that you can enjoy for the rest of your life.

Students as partners

We emphasise active participation in all parts of the degree course. This means being active in professional practice, during classes, in your core group and subgroups. You can take part in participatory bodies, programme development, the student association or information provision for prospective students. You can also initiate improvements to the degree course yourself, or to the supervision of students in the years below you. Project time is reserved for such activities in every semester programme, and credits are awarded accordingly. In the professional learning communities, we see you as a partner-in-training. During your studies, you make a contribution on the work floor and to the improvement of professional practice.

3.4 Internships and/or workplace

In each semester programme you choose an internship organisation. This also means choosing the target group you will be working with and your work method: more focus on prevention and advice or more focus on support and caregiving.

Occasionally your internship organisation will change per semester programme, but not always. Sometimes there are good reasons to continue on with the same internship organisation, for example if your target group or the issue or research you are working on requires you to stay in one place for an extended period of time. You make agreements about this with your internship supervisor and your study coach or the professionals from your learning community.

Whenever you begin a new semester programme and thus a new theme, you and your internship supervisor or the professionals in the learning community consider what is happening in your internship organisation that relates to that theme. Together you decide which issue to address. You then explore the issue in practice: you read about it and discuss it with others to find out what knowledge already exists, what research has been done, and what possible approaches are available. Next, you get to work yourself, applying a particular method or conducting a particular piece of research, with the aim of making a contribution appropriate to your own developmental level. In other words, even during the degree course you contribute to real-world practice on the basis of your current competences.

In the regular route you spend 1 day a week in your first year learning in a professional work setting, 2 days a week in your second year and 3 or 4 days a week in your third years. In the Euregional route you learn in a professional work setting for 2 days a week in the first and second years and for 3 or 4 days a week in the third and fourth year. In the first year of the International route, you learn in the workplace 1 day a week. In the second year, you experience the context of international social work through project-based work. For three semesters in the third and fourth years, you intern for 4 days a week at an internship placement abroad or an international/intercultural internship placement in the Netherlands.

Doing internships is an important part of our education. You must therefore meet the mandatory hours of internships in the various academic years in order to be able to obtain the credits associated with certain courses.

3.5 How the professional field is involved

The professional field is closely involved in our education and training as well as in the future development of the degree course.

As explained in section 3.3, internship/workplace learning is an integral part of your training and, in consultation with your internship supervisor or the professionals from your learning community, you decide which key issues to address.

Professional social workers are also involved in assessments, for example as examiners of practical exams and during the graduation process. There are also external supervisors who monitor the quality of the work you are required to complete in order to graduate.

The professional field makes recommendations to the degree course in all sorts of ways.

Consultative groups: These groups include students as well as professionals, who contribute to the development and evaluation of the curriculum.

Professional advisory board: This board is composed of people who coordinate the policy of the degree course and internship supervision in the professional field. These people also have insight into how the field is developing and what it will require of social workers in the future. They make recommendations to the degree course organisers and ensure that their organisations can provide the desired internship/workplace learning and cooperation. This board also plays a role in the quality assurance process of the degree course.

HAN SOCIAAL/Social Work advisory board: This board is composed of directors of professional organisations and municipal officials. They advise the degree course and the research groups of HAN SOCIAAL (the Research Centre for Social Support and Community Care) on how the professional field is expected to develop in the coming 5 to 10 years and how the degree course can prepare for these developments.

3.6 Research groups and research centres

HAN's research groups consist of a professor plus researchers and one or more networks in which lecturers and professionals are involved as researchers. Students, too, are welcome to participate. The research groups conduct practice-based research with the aim of improving education and professional practice by acquiring new insights, applying them in practice and sharing them with students during the degree course. Several research groups active in the same area together form a research centre.

The research groups contribute to bachelor and master degree courses at HAN in a range of different ways. They give guest lectures. They give advice on how to integrate the insights acquired through research into teaching materials. They devise ways of teaching research skills to students, and supervise students who take part in studies conducted by the research group.

The degree course works closely with various research groups. For more information see the Dutch version of this Degree Statute.

Labs and workshops

Our labs and workshops represent a special form of cooperation between research groups, degree courses, the professional field and citizens. Established in various districts and municipalities, the labs and workshops bring together professionals, citizens, researchers, students and companies to search for new ways of working. The focus is on participation by citizens, with special emphasis on the use of technology and teamwork. The labs and workshops are innovative environments where professionals from different disciplines (in the social and medical fields, but also local police officers, teachers and municipal officials) can rapidly explore, test and introduce new services and products, in collaboration with researchers and students. This way, everyone wins: the health and welfare of citizens benefits from the rapid application of knowledge and innovations, while students learn in practice and professionals reap the rewards of continued development.

Our labs and workshops include the Civil Society Lab, HAN Neighbourhood Networks for Education Research, Allesbinder, Honigfabriek, Thermion-Lent and various Spark Centres. As of February 2020, it is also possible to join the Weezer Wellenbrecher lab in Germany.

3.7 Options in your degree course

You have many different options during your degree course. We have listed them below.

Regular route	The regular route is Dutch-taught and you earn a Bachelor in Social Work. See also Section 3.2 Regular route.
Euregional route	If you follow this bilingual route you prepare to work in the Euregio after graduation: both in Germany and in the Netherlands. See also Section 3.2 Euregional route. This route is phasing out starting the academic year 2022-2023.
International route	This English-taught route prepares you to work in an international environment. See also Section 3.2 International route.
Profile	In the main phase you choose one of three profiles. In the Health Care profile, you can complete a 'specialisation mental health care'. See also Section 4.4 Graduation specialisations.
Minor	The minor is a component you are mostly completely free to choose, based on your own interests. See also Section 5.2 Major and minor and; Part 2, 4.1 Minors.

4 The exit qualifications for your degree course and professional requirements

4.1 The professional field²

Social workers work in different professional fields, often at the intersection between the domain of social work and other areas, such as the health or legal sectors. Roughly, we can distinguish between the following organisational contexts:

- Social work at the local level. Many social workers work at the neighbourhood level, usually in interdisciplinary teams or other interprofessional partnerships. This is because many of the aforementioned objectives of social work can be achieved by working at a local level. District teams are involved with a diverse range of issues.
- Working for an institution. Social workers are often employed by institutions that are hired by municipalities to provide certain services. This relationship also requires a major reorientation of the institutions. The contracted services range from basic support and assistance to professional social work and general or specialist healthcare. Services are defined in terms of content and scope, competitively priced, and negotiated and evaluated annually.
- Working in a residential institution. Social workers can also work in institutions that provide specialist support and/or long-term care for residents, some of whom are admitted compulsorily. Although social work in this context is increasingly performed on an outpatient basis and is changing in character (greater focus on self-management, participation, etc.), residential institutions remain important employers for social workers. At the same time, these institutions also serve as contractors (particularly for municipalities).
- Working as an independent contractor It is becoming increasingly common for social workers to work as independent contractors for a range of service users (municipalities, but also institutions or networks). Often, they are focused on prevention or social innovation, for example by providing support for neighbourhoods as learning communities.
- Other contexts. Social workers can also work as employees or contractors at municipalities, focused on the development and/or implementation of social policy, or as policy officers in regional or national associations for social workers.

Broadly speaking, social workers increasingly work as contractors in business- and result-oriented contexts, with local authorities as their main service users (directly or indirectly). In this context, discretionary power is an important concept. Social workers do not merely execute a contract, or focus solely on short-term results and reduction of costs. Exercising their discretionary power means interpreting the deeper need behind the contract, reducing risks, preventing care needs from spiralling, and – in light of increasing digitisation – safeguarding the privacy of their service users.

4.2 Professional requirements

Two professional fields require or offer the option for you to apply for the professional register after the degree course. In the profile 'Youth professional', you can prepare to apply for accreditation as a social worker focused on youth and families. This is a legal requirement for professionals in the youth care system in the Netherlands. In the 'Health care' profile, you can prepare to apply to join the professional register as a mental health worker or as a specialist in the care for people with disabilities. You can find out more about these professional registers on the following sites:

4.3 Exit qualifications

This section describes your exit qualifications at the end of the degree course. These exit qualifications are formally defined in the education and examination regulations and correspond - via your profile selection - with the professional requirements described in section 4.2.

When you graduate you conform with the exit qualifications of the degree course. In other words, you have certain (required) knowledge, understanding, skills and (if relevant) attitude, for the profession you have been educated for. These are also entry qualifications for the professional practice. The exit qualifications for your degree course are outlined below.

Core task 1: Advance the social functioning of people and their social context

Qualification	Notes
1. Being actively open, making contact and picking up signals	Social workers approach people and their social contexts and they allow others to approach them. Social workers are 'present'; they make contact through a variety of channels and pick up signals. These signals give information about opportunities and threats in different aspects of life: social relationships, spirituality and meaning, physical and psychological health, finances, housing, work and activities.
2. Empowering people and their direct surroundings to actively shape their own and others' wellbeing, development and social participation	Social workers foster the wellbeing, development and social participation of people and their direct surroundings in a systematic manner. They do this in consultation with people and their networks, with a focus on self-determination and participation and, where possible, mutual support by individuals such as caregivers or educators. They pay attention to people's social safety and contribute to this.
3. Empowering people and their social networks to actively contribute to an inclusive, just society in which people's wellbeing, development and social participation is key	Social workers foster the active contribution of groups of people, social networks and communities in a systematic manner. They work on community and cultural development, they mobilise people and they contribute to social safety and social justice. They promote the community's contribution to the wellbeing of all members and to the raising of children and young people growing up in the community. To this end, they focus on strengthening social cohesion and embedding, self-reliance, citizenship and diversity.

Core task 2: Strengthen organisational contexts for practicing social work

Qualification	Notes
4. Working with available means in an effective, efficient and transparent manner	Social workers effectively manage matters such as indication, acquisition and use of resources, and the deployment of professionals and non-professionals. They work in a transparent, result-oriented and efficient manner. They are aware of value and cost.
5. Working in an enterprising, strategic and policy-based manner	Social workers operate actively and enterprisingly in one or more types of organisations. They contribute to the development of organisational links and policy. They also contribute to acquiring assignments in tender processes and putting topics on the agendas of service user organisations.

Core task 3: Advance one's own professionalism and the development of the profession

Qualification	Notes
6. Promoting the profession	Social workers have added value. They show this value and also communicate with third parties about it. They are representatives of their professional group.
7. Reflecting and developing one's own professionalism	Social workers learn from their experiences by experimenting and reflecting on their own professional actions in relation to developments in the field, the latest professional insights and social developments. They can justify the choices they make.
8. Conducting research and improving the professional field	Social workers have an inquiring attitude. They have the ability to apply knowledge from research by others and to actively take part in practice-based research. They are able to convert the research results to improvement of the professional practice.

Core tasks 1, 2, 3

Qualification	Notes
9. Cooperating from different roles	Social workers contribute to interdisciplinary collaboration within or between professional networks. They initiate and coordinate this collaboration where needed. They do this in such a way that people, networks and communities can attain their own and joint objectives.
10. Making critical and ethical considerations	Social workers make ethical considerations using (international) professional codes, they use their own discretion and they convey their ethical considerations to the various involved parties. Social workers are critically reflective of their professional actions and they strive to take those actions that will have a sustainable effect.
11. Thinking and acting creatively	Together with involved parties, social workers create new approaches and solutions where existing ones no longer work. They are resourceful and creative in their way of thinking and acting. To this end, social workers can use a range of methods to carry out their work. For example, they use language, games, sport and artistic media.

The level of the exit qualifications is geared to the Dublin Descriptors / standard for professional bachelor degree. As a result, our degree course is guaranteed to be at the correct national and international level. The degree certificates meet all legal requirements and are therefore comparable with and equal to similar degree certificates from other universities of applied sciences in the Netherlands and abroad.

This is outlined in the schematic diagram below³:

Dublin descriptor and/or standard for professional bachelor degree	Details for the professional bachelor degree in social work
Dublin Descriptor 1: knowledge and insight Standard for professional bachelor degree: theoretical basis	Investigates, discovers and generates practical knowledge themselves where needed for the purpose of concrete social problems, sometimes also with a greater scope. Ensures that the latest (international) insights in the professional field are included in the problem approach.
Dublin Descriptor 2: applying knowledge and understanding	Performs their work sustainably by influencing the relevant factors and making clear that these are the relevant factors. Approaches social problems in a systematic manner, ascertains the social problem (development problem) through analysis of the situation.
Standard for professional bachelor degree: research capability	Is capable, in dialogue, of considering the various perspectives involved. Picks up on and identifies problems themselves; converts these into research questions. Describes complex problems using aspects from various specialisations and fields of knowledge. Can translate research results into methods of action.
Dublin Descriptor 3: forming opinions Standard for professional bachelor degree: professional expertise	Is capable, in dialogue, of understanding, determining, explicating and analysing the various factors involved. Forms an opinion based on this and produces a reasoned proposal and plan.
Dublin Descriptor 4: communication	Communicates results using a range of means with diverse stakeholders. Is capable, based on acquired knowledge, of providing advice and communicating this to a target group.
Dublin Descriptor 5: learning skills	Understands that through their professional actions they become part of the situation and that learning is done together. Shows their learning capability and expertise by judging and acting in various contexts with a range of issues and particulars.
Standard for professional bachelor degree: professional ethics and social orientation	Is aware of the normative nature of the situation. Is open to other cultures and world views. Operates based on the Global Definition of Social Work. To this end, keeps up with developments in the (international) society. Confronts others about their behaviour when it appears to conflict with the applicable moral and ethical standard.

4.4 Graduation specialisations

If you choose the International Social Work route, you also choose the profile 'Community development and inclusive society', because this route best fits this profile. If you decide to graduate with a different profile, you need to switch your learning route (to regular or Euregio). Entry requirements may apply to switching to another learning route.

After a switch, you can choose from three profiles for your graduation specialisation⁴.

- Youth professional: in this profile you will delve into working with young people up to the age of 23 and their parents/carers. You handle various issues related to growing up and parenting. You contribute to stimulating and utilising young people's opportunities to develop into autonomous adults. You monitor the safety of children and young people. You work to prevent or overcome threats to their physical and psychosocial development. You strengthen the parenting skills of parents or their (temporary) replacements. Sometimes you take on part of the parenting yourself, but always in contact with the parents.
- Community development and inclusive society: in this profile you will delve into working with people and communities in their own living environment. You focus on the intersection between social and socio-cultural aspects. You identify what is going on in a district or in a family and ensure that problems are quickly identified and addressed and do not escalate further. You do this by supporting, assisting, activating and connecting people. Sometimes you work with individuals, with a focus on collective aspects; sometimes you work with communities, with a focus on individual needs and development.
- Health care: In this profile you will delve into guiding and supporting people with severe and long-term problems and their families. You do this in their homes, at day activity centres or at special residential or treatment centres. You focus on enabling people to function socially despite their conditions and limitations.

The specialised training you receive within a profile (graduation specialisation) amounts to at least 90 credits.

Specialisation mental health care

The degree course offers Social Work students the opportunity to earn the 'Specialisation mental health care'. Earning this endorsement means specialised preparation for working in a specific professional practice. This endorsement allows you to register in the professional register as a GGZ mental health worker.

If you meet all the requirements, you will receive a diploma supplement with the endorsement 'Specialisation mental health care'.

If you wish to achieve the 'Specialisation mental health care', you need to meet the following requirements:

- a. You meet the requirements of the 'Health care' profile.
- b. You passed the 'GGZ-agoog' minor.
- c. You work for the GGZ (in mental health care) while taking the units of study/minor:
 - Profile orientation in practice – health care + specialisation mental health care;
 - Profile knowledge health care + specialisation mental health care;
 - Graduation programme - Implementation in practice - health care + specialisation mental health care;
 - Graduation programme - Social practice development - health care + specialisation mental health care;
 - the minor 'GGZ-agoog'.

5 Structure of a bachelor course at a university of applied sciences

This chapter gives a broad description of your degree course. Part 2 and Part 3 contain the rules and details.

5.1 Scope

A bachelor course at a university of applied sciences consists of a propaedeutic phase (also called the foundation year) and a post-propaedeutic phase (also called the main phase).

The scope of the degree course is represented in credits and study load. One credit is equal to 28 hours of study (this is an average indication). This is also stipulated in the Higher Education and Research Act.

Bachelor courses have a study load of 240 credits.

An abridged track also has 240 credits, but the total duration of the degree course is shorter due to exemptions for a specific group of students. The abridged track is not applicable for the English track International Social Work.

5.2 Major and minor

Bachelor courses at HAN consist of a major and a minor. The major is your main specialisation, in which you develop your professional competences. The major consists of 210 credits. You also have the opportunity to deepen or to widen your knowledge, interests and capacities in a minor. A minor consists of 30 credits.

Structure of the degree	Major	Minor	Total
Propaedeutic phase	60		60
Post-propaedeutic	150	30	180
Total	210	30	240

5.3 Propaedeutic and post-propaedeutic phase

The first year of your degree course is the propaedeutic phase. This phase has a study load of 60 credits.

The propaedeutic phase has three functions: an introductory function, a referring function and a selective function. These three functions are closely related. The propaedeutic phase gives you a good impression of the entire degree course.

1. It gives you insight into the content of the degree course. In that year you can decide for yourself whether the degree course matches your capacities and interests. This is the introductory function of the propaedeutic phase.
2. During this year you can decide whether to continue with the degree course. The study advice at the end of the propaedeutic phase helps with that decision. This is the referring function of the propaedeutic phase.
3. The propaedeutic phase has a selective function. This function is two-fold: on the one hand you decide whether you are suited to the degree course or not. On the other hand, the lecturers and examiners decide whether you are suited based on your study results. In doing so, they always consider the demands that will be placed on you in your future profession.

The propaedeutic phase is followed by the post-propaedeutic phase. In the post-propaedeutic phase, you go deeper into the material and work towards the exit qualifications of your bachelor course. Have you also passed all the exams in the post-propaedeutic phase? Then you conclude this phase and you have earned your bachelor degree. You receive your degree certificate.

5.4.3 Attendance rules for the degree course

Learning is an active process

In order to optimise the educational offerings of the Social Work degree course, attendance at and active participation in the lessons and meetings is important. As a student, you not only work on acquiring skills and theoretical knowledge, but also on your professional attitude. Part of that professional attitude is that you can be a fully-fledged and reliable colleague. Lecturers and students should be able to count on each other, just as colleagues and managers count on each other in the work environment. After all, in some parts of the study programme and exams, you share responsibility for the final product. And you have to be able to demonstrate your contribution to that final product.

Agreements and communication

You are doing a full-time degree course and we assume everyone always turns up and actively participates. Naturally, there are times when you cannot attend or actively participate. There may be acceptable reasons not to stick to certain agreements, just as there will be in your later work life. But you should always communicate about attendance with your study coach and lecturer and/or classmates.

Absence of lecturers and students

The degree course works on the assumption that lecturers are present when they are scheduled. If a lecturer is unable to attend a scheduled lesson (due to illness or circumstances beyond their control), they report this to their manager. The manager will try to arrange for the lesson to continue: by having another lecturer take over, by merging classes or by having students work on an assignment. The aim here is to prevent study delays, ensure students do not come to campus for nothing, ensure students can attend the lessons they need and ensure any changes continue to fit within the timetable and/or responsibilities of both students and lecturers. Information about absence and replacement of lecturers is communicated via OnderwijsOnline, the timetable, email, the class representative, a group app or someone from the degree course who comes to explain the situation in the lesson.

If students are unable to attend, we assume that (where possible) they discuss this beforehand with the people concerned, such as the classmates and the lecturer, and that they do so in accordance with the jointly made agreements. If special circumstances lead to more regular or sustained absence (e.g. chronic health problems, a death in the family or, for example, elite athletes scheme), then as a student you consult with the study coach and/or senior study coach about the schemes (see also: Student Charter) and agreements offered by HAN that allow you to continue to participate in the lessons and subgroups. If required, the agreements can be laid down in a study contract.

Since we believe that attendance and participation in the lesson say something about your professional attitude, lecturers keep track of student attendance, and of how students handle agreements. If a lecturer believes you are not acting appropriately, they will report this to your study coach and inform you about this. Your study coach will keep a record of this information, so your attendance and actions with regard to agreements play a role in the evaluation and assessment of your professional attitude. Naturally, you will discuss this with each other and both you as a student and your study coach can take the initiative to do this.

You can contact the board of examiners for your degree course via the board of examiners secretarial office: examencommissie.amm-socialwork@han.nl.

The members of the board of examiners are appointed by the HAN Executive Board.

The tasks and responsibilities of our board of examiners can be found in the Regulations of the Board of Examiners. These include additional rules regarding examinations and final assessments in so far as these are within the powers of the board of examiners. See also the Regulations of the Board of Examiners in Part 3 of this degree statute.

The board of examiners decides, among other things, whether you meet the conditions set out in the education and examination regulations. 7.2.2 Participation and consultation

Below is a short overview of the HAN committees and councils. They discuss and also influence the policies and decisions made at HAN.

Degree committee

There is a degree committee for each degree course or group of courses. A degree committee consists of an equal number of staff members and students. The degree committee advises the course department about promoting and guaranteeing the quality of the degree course. Each year it also evaluates the degree course's compliance with the education and examination regulations. The degree committee also has a right of consent and advisory rights. Through the degree committee, you can contribute ideas and make decisions about the curriculum and organisation of your degree course.

Would you like to become a member of the degree committee? You can request more information from opleidingscommissie.socialwork@han.nl. The degree committee has its own regulations (see Part 3).

Members of the degree committee Social Work:

Annemarie Ketting (teacher, chair)

PART 2 Education and Examination Regulations

1 About the education and examination regulations

These education and examination regulations are included in the degree statute that apply to your degree course. The education and examination regulations are adopted each academic year. The education and examination regulations cover the education, exams, modular exams and final assessments for your degree course and your rights and obligations.

1.1 Terms and definitions

The terms and definitions used in these education and examination regulations are given below. The Dutch term is given between brackets.

School (academie)	An organisational unit with interconnected degree courses, research and knowledge services.
Graduation specialisation (afstudeerrichting)	A specialisation within a degree course as defined in the education and examination regulations.
Assessment criteria (beoordelingscriteria)	Clearly defined and unambiguous standards that can be used to give a motivated assessment of whether and to what extent a student meets the required level of knowledge, understanding and skills and (if relevant) attitude assessed in an exam or modular exam.
Assessment dimensions (beoordelingsdimensies)	Assessment dimensions give a global description of the aspects on which a student's performance and/or the resulting products should be assessed. These descriptions need to be global because the assessment dimensions should apply to any type of student performance that demonstrates their qualification.
Professional task (beroepstaak)	A meaningful, complete task as carried out in all its complexity by a professional practitioner in an actual professional setting with all its complexities.
Professional requirements (beroepsvereisten)	Well-defined qualifications regarding the knowledge, understanding and skills and (if relevant) the attitude a student needs to carry out the profession they are studying for.
BRIN number (BRIN-nummer)	The Basisregistratie Instellingen (BRIN) is a database for educational institutions that is published by the Dutch Ministry of Education, Culture and Science. It contains all schools and related institutions. Each educational institution is identified in the database with a number. The BRIN number for HAN is 25KB.
Examination Appeals Board (College van Beroep voor de Examens)	This is the board referred to in article 7.60 of the Higher Education and Research Act. The board deals with appeals submitted by students against decisions made by HAN.
CROHO (Centraal Register Opleidingen Hoger Onderwijs)	CROHO is the central register for degree courses in higher education.

D-stream (D-stroom)	This is a customised study programme that has the same exit qualifications, assessment dimensions and assessment criteria for units of study as the regular stream (A-stream). It allows a student to following their own study track in continuous consultation with examiners, lecturers and classmates.
Exit qualifications (eindkwalificaties)	Well-defined outcomes regarding the knowledge, understanding and skills and (if relevant) the attitude a student should acquire by the time they complete their degree course.
Recognition of Prior Learning (Erkenning Verworven Competenties - EVC)	Recognition of prior learning gained outside the degree course that leads to a Certificate of Prior Learning from the Nationaal Kenniscentrum EVC, the national research centre for the recognition of prior learning. Recognition of prior learning can lead to exemption from exams and modular exams for unit(s) of learning outcomes or unit(s) of study that focus on the competences already gained through the prior learning.
External student (extraneus)	A person enrolled at a university of applied sciences or university who can participate in exams, modular exams and final assessments but not in the education or supervision.
HAN	HAN University of Applied Sciences This abbreviation is used in internal documents to improve the readability of documents.

Head examiner (hoofdexaminator)	Appointed by the board of examiners as the head examiner responsible for the results of examination and assessment in cases where more than one examiner has been appointed for an exam or modular exam.
Degree format (inrichtingsvorm)	The manner in which a degree course is organised: full-time, part-time or work-study.
Register (intekenen)	Registering for educational components, exams and modular exams. OSIRIS uses the term 'Enrol' for this.
Elective unit (keuzeonderwijseenheid)	A unit of study that can be chosen from two or more elective units of study. Once selected, the unit of study becomes part of the student's study programme and final assessment. The exams and modular exams for the non-mandatory units of study that the student did not select do not need to be taken for the degree certificate.

Learning outcome (leeruitkomst)	A measurable result of learning experiences.
Exams taken independently of the standard programme (leerwegaafhankelijk tentamen)	An exam or modular exam that the student can take without having participated in the educational activities linked to that exam or modular exam.
Major	The core 210 credits of a bachelor course. During the major a student acquires the qualifications needed to graduate for a university of applied sciences bachelor degree and meet the professional requirements.
Minor	The part of the post-propaedeutic phase of the bachelor course that is aimed at specialisation or differentiation. The minor has a study load of 30 credits.
Module	An internally coherent and to some extent independent part of the part-time and work-study degree course. A module consists of one or more units of study and is aimed at a realistic cluster of qualifications derived from professional practice.

1.2 Which degree course do these education and examination regulations apply to?

These are the education and examination regulations, as defined in article 7.13 of the Higher Education and Research Act, for the following HAN bachelor course composed of units of study:

Degree course	Degree format	CROHO number	Location of the degree course
B Social Work	Full-time	34116	Nijmegen

These education and examination regulations do not apply to the following bachelor course(s) composed of units of learning outcomes:

Degree course	Degree format	CROHO number	Where to find degree statute
B Social Work	Part-time, work-study	34116	OnderwijsOnline, HAN insite and www.han.nl

The degree statute of the main Dutch format of the degree course Social Work is published Opleidingsstatuut 2022-2023 van de bacheloropleiding Social Work opgebouwd uit onderwijseenheden inrichtingsvorm: voltijd. See: OnderwijsOnline, HAN insite and www.han.nl.

For the bilingual Dutch/German track of the degree course the Euregional route a German translation of the degree statute is published as a service to the students Ausbildungsstatut 2022-2023 Bachelor-Studiengangs Social Work der aus Unterrichtseinheiten besteht Organisationsform: Vollzeit. See: OnderwijsOnline, HAN insite and www.han.nl.

1.3 Which education and examination regulations apply to you?

At HAN, the education and examination regulations are renewed every year. This does not mean everything changes each year. Generally only a small number of changes are made to the study programme and the organisation.

These education and examination regulations apply to the 2022-2023 academic year, so from 1 September 2022 to 31 August 2023.

Amendments made to the education and examination regulations do not apply to events or matters in the past, but only to the new academic year. Special rules may apply when switching from earlier education and examination regulations to new education and examination regulations. These rules can be found in the transition regulations: Part 2 chapter 11

In exceptional cases the education and examination regulations must be amended during an academic year. Amendments can only be made during an academic year if this is reasonably necessary and does not disadvantage the students. Transition regulations may also apply in these cases: see Part 2, chapter 11. The overview of adopted amendments is included in Part 2, section 11.6.

In cases not provided for in these education and examination regulations, the dean will decide. If a case is subject to the authority of the board of examiners, a decision will be made by the chair of that board of examiners. Those with an interest in the decision will be informed of that decision within four weeks.

2 Regulations concerning admission

The rules concerning application, admission, education requirements, selection and enrolment for the degree course(s) to which this degree statute applies, can be found in the Enrolment Regulations: Practical info about International Social Work at HAN \(hanuniversity.com\).

M_ISPS41VZ – Adventure learning - zweisprachiger Minor (D/NL) auf Basis der Erlebnispädagogik/zweitalige minor (D/NL) op basis van Ervaringsleren (Vollzeit)

The free alternative to these minors is that you choose another minor.

Please note: costs for learning resources and other materials you need to purchase for the degree course do not fall under the extra contribution described here.

3 Description of the degree course

In this chapter you can read about the format and structure from the degree course. You can also read what the study load is for the degree course and what options there are to do a special track within the degree course. This chapter contains a general description. Part 2, chapter 9 describes the exact content of the degree course.

3.1 Structure and format of the degree course

3.1.1 Structure of the degree course

The degree course consists of a coherent set of units of study.

The study load of a degree course is represented in credits. One credit is equal to 28 hours of study (this is an average indication).

The bachelor course has a study load of 240 credits, of which 60 are in the propaedeutic phase and 180 in the post-propaedeutic phase.

The degree course is divided into a major and a minor. The major and minor have a combined study load of 240 credits.

The purpose of the major is for you to gain the qualifications you need to earn a bachelor degree at a university of applied sciences, so you have the entry-level qualification to practice your profession. The qualifications are determined in the descriptions of the education in Part 2, chapter 9.

The aim of the minor is specialisation and/or differentiation. See also Part 2, chapter 4.

Each academic year is structured so it has a scope of 60 credits.

3.1.2 Structure of the work-study degree format

Not applicable.

3.2 Degree tracks

3.2.1 Standard track

The standard track of the bachelor course is Dutch-taught. It comprises 240 credits, divided over 4 years of study, which means 60 credits each year.

The degree course is made up of units of study worth at least 2.5 credits.

3.2.2 Tracks, units of study, modules and minors in another language

The degree course has a bilingual Dutch/German track Social Work Euregio in addition to the main Dutch format: Social Work regular. The track Social Work Euregio is phasing out starting the academic year 2022-2023.

The degree course has an English track International Social Work in addition to the main Dutch format: Social Work regular.

Your degree course also offers units of study, and possibly also modules and/or minors in a language other than Dutch. You can find the study components that are offered in another language and the language requirements for those units in the overview of units of study in Part 2, chapter 9.

3.2.3 Tracks with a special feature

Tracks with special features deviate from the standard track of the university of applied sciences bachelor course described in 3.2.1. Your degree course offers the following special degree tracks:

- An abridged track from associate degree to bachelor degree.
- Your degree course also offers a track with the special feature: 'GGZ-agoog' (Specialisation mental health care).

Participation in tracks with a special feature is never mandatory. It is an extra opportunity the degree course offers you.

These tracks are described in more detail in the sections below. For the exact contents, see Part 2, chapter 9.

3.2.3.1 Fast track

Not applicable.

3.2.3.2 Abridged track

Not applicable for the English track International Social Work.

3.2.3.3 Abridged track from associate degree to bachelor degree

The study load for the associate degree to bachelor degree track is 240 credits. The track is referred to as abridged because of the exemptions that are granted, which make it possible for the degree to be completed within about 2 years.

You can participate in the abridged track from associate degree to bachelor degree if you have earned a related associate degree. Based on that associate degree you are eligible for exemptions. The remaining number of credits after the exemption has been granted is 120.

- 120 if you have a diploma from the Associate Degree programme Social Work (AD Social Work).

The associate degrees and their related bachelor degree course(s) are listed in the overview below.

Associate degree course	Related bachelor degree course
Ad Sociaal Werk	B Social Work

3.2.3.4 Track for elite athletes

Not applicable.

3.2.3.5 D-stream

Not applicable.

3.2.3.6 Combined track

Not applicable.

3.2.3.7 Other special tracks

The degree course also offers a track with the special feature: 'GGZ-agoog' (Specialisation mental health care) 'Specialisation mental health care' is a part of the major and an accompanying minor and has a study load of 120 credits.

See: Part 1, 4.4 Graduation specialisations.

3.3 Options in your degree course

The degree course offers you the following options within the course:

- participation in the minor (see Part 2, chapter 4);
- participation in a graduation specialisation.

3.3.1 Elective units of study

Not applicable.

3.3.2 Graduation specialisation

If you choose the International Social Work route, you also choose the profile 'Community development and inclusive society', because this route best fits this profile. If you decide to graduate with a different profile, you need to switch your learning route (to regular or Euregio). Entry requirements may apply to switching to another learning route. The following selection procedure applies after a switch.

You can choose one of the following graduation specialisations (profiles):

- Youth professional: in this profile you will delve into working with young people up to the age of 23 and their parents/carers. You handle various issues related to growing up and parenting.
- Community development and inclusive society: in this profile you will delve into working with people and communities in their everyday living environment. You identify what is going on in a district or in a family and ensure that problems are quickly identified and addressed and do not escalate further.
- Health Care: In this profile you will delve into guiding and supporting people with severe and long-term problems and their families. You do this in their homes or at a day activity centre or special residential centre.

The specialised training you receive within a profile (graduation specialisation) amounts to at least 90 credits.

The degree course offers Social Work students with a 'Health care' profile the opportunity to complete the 'Specialisation mental health care'.

Choosing a profile

- a. You orientate yourself to the profiles, possibly with the help of your study coach, and make a provisional profile choice.
- b. You search for an internship organisation suitable to your profile choice for the units of study Profile orientation in practice, Profile knowledge, and Graduation Programme - Implementation in practice. You use information from the internship office for this. Then you apply to one or more internship organisations that match the profile of your choice. In making your choice, you consider your own wishes as well as the possibilities available at the internship organisation in terms of a minimum duration of your work-learning agreement: one, two or more semesters.
 - You can decide to stay at the same internship organisation for both semesters. In that case you check which organisations offer this option.
 - You can also choose to go to two different internship organisations for the two semesters. For example, if you wish to broaden your scope, or want to go abroad for six months.

When you apply, keep in mind that not all organisations offer the option of an internship for half a year.

If you choose two different internship organisations, in main phase 1 you can apply directly to those organisations for the first and second semester of main phase 2.

You can also apply to the second internship organisation later, during the first semester of main phase 2.

- c. If you have been accepted by an organisation, report this as soon as possible, but no later than week 4.10. Fill in and send the report form to both the internship office and to your study coach. By doing this, you finalise your profile choice.
- d. You also decide what topic to address in the Graduation programme - Social practice development. You choose a graduation assignment in an internship organisation that is relevant to your chosen profile.

3.4 If the content or structure of your degree course changes

We regularly change or update components of the study programme so we can guarantee the quality of the degree course and the value of your degree certificate. This means the education and examination regulations for a following academic year may contain changes to the study programme you will be doing.

Changes to the study programme can have certain consequences. If you fall behind in your studies, for example, you may need to pass a different exam or modular exam than you initially thought. A change may also mean an exam or modular exam is still offered, but you can no longer follow the educational activities for that particular component.

A change cannot mean that units of study or exams/modular exams you have already passed no longer count towards your final propaedeutic or bachelor assessment. The law only allows this in highly exceptional cases.

The transition regulations in Part 2, chapter 11, stipulate where needed how this works for each change made to the study programme.

3.5 Registering for educational components offered from February 2023

For education offered after 31 January 2023, you need to register for the educational components you wish to follow. The 'OSIRIS Regulations for Education, Exams and Modular Exams' in Part 3 of this degree statute stipulates what is expected of you regarding registering and deregistering for educational components. The regulations also contain exceptions for situations where registering for an educational component is not necessary.

4 Minors

4.1 Minor

The aim of the minor is specialisation and/or differentiation. A minor has a study load of 30 credits and consists of one or more units of study or units of learning outcomes.

The minor is part of the post-propaedeutic phase. This chapter explains how the minors are offered and how you can get approval to take a minor of your choice.

You can choose between a HAN minor or a flexible minor.

4.1.1 HAN minors

HAN offers a range of minors. A new HAN minor is evaluated by the HAN minor committee on a number of criteria. Based on the recommendations of this committee, the dean decides whether to include the new minor in the minor offerings. Not all minors are open to all students. Access depends on the target group, the entry requirements for the minor and the time at which these are offered.

The minors offered by your degree course are described in Part 2, chapter 9 from the education and examination regulations from the degree format of the degree course offering the minor. You can also choose a minor from another HAN degree course. You can find the overview of HAN minors and their entry requirements here: www.minoren-han.nl.

If you choose a HAN minor, you will need approval from the board of examiners for your degree course. The board of examiners determines whether the minor is suitable for your degree course, fits within the professional profile and has the right level (differentiation/specialisation in the post-propaedeutic phase whether the minor overlaps with the major part of your degree course). HAN minors offered by your own degree course or a different HAN degree course are listed in the minor overview on www.minoren-han.nl. The minors that are suitable for your degree course have already been approved by the board of examiners. The list of minors approved by the board of examiners for your degree course can be found at OnderwijsOnline.

You can enrol for these minors via the study information system (SIS).

The minors that are suitable for your degree course have already been approved by the board of examiners. The list of minors approved by the board of examiners for your degree course can be found in section 4.1.4.

Capacity limits may apply for minors. You can find the descriptions for the minors in Part 2, chapter 9 of this statute or the statute for (the degree format of) the degree course offering the minor.

4.1.2 The flexible minor

A flexible minor is a minor that you take or compose yourself at HAN or at another institution of higher education (inside or outside the Netherlands).

Minors from other universities of applied sciences and universities in the Netherlands can be found on 'Kies op maat', www.kiesopmaat.nl. This website lists the minors and explains how you can enrol.

If you want to do a flexible minor, you need approval from the board of examiners for your degree course. The study coach will assist you in your application.

The board of examiners will assess your application within 6 workweeks.

Your application will be assessed based on following criteria:

- whether the minor fits within the professional profile for the degree course;
- whether the minor does not overlap with the major;
- whether the minor has the right level (post-propaedeutic phase);
- whether the minor has sufficient specialisation and/or differentiation;
- whether the quality of the exams, modular exams and assessment in the minor is sufficient;
- whether there is sufficient coherency between the separate units of study.

If the board of examiners judges that the minor meets these criteria, they will give you approval to take the minor. When they do this, they also appoint the examiners.

For more information and the application form, go to HAN Insite: Insite Start English \(han.nl\)
> Minors.

You can also do your minor by studying abroad for a period. If you choose a minor abroad for your degree certificate, the board of examiners of your degree course will give its approval based on the same criteria. Are you interested in doing a minor abroad? You can contact the coordinator for internationalisation for your degree course or you can contact the International Office.

4.1.3 Exemption for the minor

You can also submit an application to the board of examiners for an exemption from the exams for the minor if you have successfully passed the minor elsewhere, you have earned credits for units of study that could jointly form a minor, or you have a statement with a recognition of prior learning that could be recognised as a minor. The board of examiners decides on these applications within six weeks, based on the criteria listed in Part 2, chapter 8.

4.1.4 Minor offerings

You can find an overview of minors approved by the board of examiners at www.minoren-han.nl (All HAN minors are approved minors).

5 Extra educational components

5.1 Possibilities for extra educational components

As a student you can take one or more extra programmes, modules or units of study or units of learning outcomes at HAN. If you choose to do this, you will be expanding your study load. You can do this by taking one of the following at HAN:

- one or more extra units of study or units of learning outcomes;
- an extra module;
- an extra minor;
- an honours programme or talent programme and/or;
- a premaster (or part of a premaster) for a related master course.

Capacity limits may apply for participation in an extra unit of study or unit of learning outcomes, an extra module and an extra minor, and may mean priority is given to the students from the corresponding degree course.

If you would like to do extra educational components, please contact your study coach.

You do not need approval from the board of examiners to participate in an extra unit of study, an extra module or an extra minor.

Extra educational components are not part of the degree course. The results of extra educational components will be listed separately on the degree certificate.

5.2 Honours programme

Not applicable.

5.3 Talent programme

Your degree course has a talent programme with a scope of 10 credits.

Part 2, chapter 9 of the Dutch version of this Degree Statute, stipulates which units of study and which exams or modular exams comprise the talent programme.

You need approval from the study coach to participate in the talent programme. You only receive approval if you meet the following criteria:

- 60 credits earned from the propaedeutic phase.

If you complete the talent programme successfully, this will be recorded on your bachelor degree certificate. The content of the programme and your results will be listed on your diploma supplement. Did you only succeed in completing a number of the talent programme components? Then those components will be listed on your diploma supplement.

5.4 Premaster

A premaster (also known as a bridging programme) is an extra study programme that allows you to continue your studies in a related master degree course at a university of applied sciences or university.

Your degree course does not offer premasters because you can directly continue with the HAN master courses in both Educational Theory and Social Work. For more information see:

www.han.nl.

You can continue with a university master degree course after first attending a premaster offered by the university (also known as a pre-master programme).

Transfer minor: following a transfer minor gives you the chance to shorten a transfer programme/pre-master and therefore fast-track your intake in a master degree.

Admission to a transfer minor or pre-master programme is subject to strict admission requirements, so it is important that you explore your options well in advance.

6 Study advice

In this chapter you can read about the study advice you are given, and why and when you get this. Study advice can be positive, negative, or binding negative. If you receive binding negative study advice, your enrolment for the degree course ends and you have to stop your studies in that degree course. You are allowed to enrol for a different degree course. This chapter covers your rights and the different types of study advice.

6.1 Why do you receive study advice?

The aim of the propaedeutic phase of your studies is to familiarise yourself with the degree course and the related profession. The propaedeutic phase also gives you an idea of whether you are suited to that profession and can expect to complete the degree course successfully.

HAN is legally required to give every student study advice.
This advice may and is only issued once.

Personal circumstances play a role in the decision about your study advice. You need to report any such circumstances to your study coach as soon as possible for confidential registration.
In section 6.7 you can find more rules about these personal circumstances.

6.2 Which kinds of study advice can you get?

You can get the following study advice:

- Positive study advice
Positive study advice means you are likely to complete your degree course successfully.
- Negative study advice
Negative study advice means you are not likely to successfully complete the degree course or only with a great deal of difficulty and effort.
- Binding negative study advice
Binding negative study advice means you have to stop your studies. This is stipulated in section 6.8.

6.3 When do you receive a positive, a negative or a binding negative study advice?

You get positive study advice if you meet the study progress requirement. The study progress requirement is included below.

If you do not meet the study progress requirement, you receive (binding) negative study advice. Binding negative study advice means you are not allowed to continue your studies for the degree course in which you are enrolled. Your enrolment will automatically be terminated. See further sections 6.8 and 6.9.

Please note: you can only receive binding negative study advice if the degree course has met a number of conditions. These conditions are listed in section 6.6. If these conditions are not met, the degree course may give you negative study advice, but not binding negative study advice.

Study progress requirement

You meet the study progress requirement if you:

- earned 45 credits or more in the propaedeutic phase.

Credits based on exemptions

Credits received for exemptions weigh just as heavily as credits for exam results achieved at HAN.

Termination of enrolment before sixth month after start of degree course

If you request termination of enrolment before the sixth month of starting your degree, you will not receive study advice. If you then re-enrol for the same degree course, your study advice will be determined in the same way as for all first-year students in that degree.

Termination of enrolment in the last five months of your first year of enrolment

If you submit a request for termination of enrolment during the last five months of your first year of enrolment, you may still be given binding negative study advice within that academic year before your enrolment is actually terminated.

6.4 Who issues the study advice?

Binding negative study advice is always given by the school manager.

Before you can receive binding negative study advice, you must receive an official written warning showing that you do not meet the study progress requirement at that time. You should also have had enough time to improve your results.

In your degree course, senior study coach issues the warnings and the positive or negative study advice.

You may always ask for more information if you do not agree with the advice you receive. You ask the person or course department who gave the advice.

You can also always ask a lecturer or study coach for informal advice.

6.5 When is study advice given?

You receive study advice before the end of your first year of enrolment in the propaedeutic phase or before you pass the final propaedeutic assessment.

Did you start the degree course on 1 February? Then you will receive the study advice no later than the month of January.

Study advice – positive, negative, or binding negative – may only be given once and at one specific time.

6.6 Requirements for issuing binding negative study advice

Binding negative study advice is not legal until it meets the following requirements:

1. The senior study coach gave you an official written warning well ahead of time; this may be:
 - After term 2 if you have not yet earned 15 credits;
 - After term 3 if you have not yet earned 32.5 credits.
2. When deciding about binding negative study advice, the school manager does not only consider the number of credits you obtained and your study results, but also the circumstances mentioned in section 6.7.
3. HAN offered you the study coaching and study facilities as described in Part 2, chapter 7.
4. You were given the opportunity to be heard before the school manager issued the binding negative study advice. This was done in the form of a meeting during which you could indicate whether you wished to appeal based on one or more of the circumstances mentioned in section 6.7. For your degree course that meeting is held with the senior study coach.
5. Not applicable.

6.7 Personal circumstances and study advice

The following personal circumstances are considered:

- long-term or chronic illness of the student;
- physical, sensory or other disabilities of the student;
- pregnancy of the student;
- special family circumstances;
- membership in the participation council, sub-council, student committee or degree committee;
- membership on the board of a student organisation of some size with complete legal capacity;
- membership in an organisation of some size, with complete legal capacity that promotes general social interests and actively develops activities for this purpose;
- other circumstances in which you develop activities for the purposes of the organisation and board of the institution. You need to demonstrate that you spend a considerable amount of time on these activities each year;
- other circumstances, including the general impression your lecturers have of you (hardship clause).

Do you have personal circumstances that affect your study results? Discuss these with your study coach. They will handle your information with strict confidence.

The school manager decides whether or not your personal circumstances make binding negative study advice unreasonable. The decision is based on your request or on the advice of your study coach. If the school manager decides that binding negative study advice is unreasonable, they will postpone the study advice, but for no longer than one academic year.

6.8 What are the consequences if you have to stop the degree course?

Have you received binding negative study advice? HAN will end your enrolment for the degree course in the manner stipulated in the enrolment regulations.

The senior study coach will recommend another degree course that is as suitable as possible. You are allowed to enrol in a different degree course.

Once your enrolment has been terminated, the following rules apply:

- During the following three years or until you submit a request to the school manager for re-enrolment and that request is approved, you cannot enrol as a student or as an external student at HAN for the degree course that issued you the binding negative study advice. This applies to all degree formats: full-time, part-time and work-study.
- If you are re-enrolled for the same degree course within or after three years, you can no longer receive study advice.

6.9 Appeal

You can submit an appeal against binding negative study advice with the HAN Examination Appeals Board within 6 weeks.

You can read how to do this on HAN Insite: Insite Start English \(han.nl\) > Queries and Complaints.

7 Study coaching and study facilities

The learning objective and basic principle at HAN is that you are responsible for your own learning process.

We also want you to feel acknowledged, during your entire time as a student. You are entitled to good study coaching. Each degree course offers support for this. If needed, HAN can also offer you academic, psychological and financial support. The HAN Study Success network offers you support for successful study progress.

7.1 What does HAN offer to assist you with your studies?

HAN offers facilities that enable you to do well in your studies. Examples of these are:

1. facilities for students with a disability;
2. facilities for pregnant students and students with informal care tasks;
3. special support for international students;
4. special support for students from minority groups.

HAN Study Success offers support for successful study progress. Students who need this can get extra support. You can contact your study coach or HAN Study Success for more information about the facilities and coaching offered at HAN. See also Part 1, chapter 7

In addition to the general facilities, your degree course also offers at least the following facilities:

1. study coaching as described below;
2. two exam opportunities each academic year;
3. two exam opportunities before a binding negative study advice is given.

7.2 How is study coaching organised?

The study coaching starts with the introduction to the study coach at the start of the academic year. In the first year of study, your personal study coach will invite you to at least one meeting. Furthermore, study coaching is integrated in the curriculum as part of the units of study.

Coaching to help shape the course of your studies

Your study coach is a committed contact person who supports you as a student. Your study coach does not have ready-made answers, but guides and advises you in your study progress. This means that the study coach has a good overview of your study progress and, where necessary, guides you to shape your own studies independently. In so doing, your study coach will consider your opportunities and possibilities. In the propaedeutic phase (first year) in particular, the study coach advises you on questions concerning suitability of the degree course and the profession.

We expect you to be pro-active during sessions with your study coach. In the propaedeutic phase at the least, you will have lessons from your study coach.

Study coaching and study progress

You keep an eye on your own results and the study coach will monitor the progress of your learning process together with you. Your study coach will guide you with specific questions, for example about studying at a university of applied sciences, or about problems that affect your study progress. The study coach is there for you if anything goes wrong with your studies, but also if there are other challenges, opportunities and possibilities.

Individualised learning

If necessary, the study coach can refer you to the senior study coach, student psychologist or the student counsellor. If necessary, the study coach will draw up individualised learning programmes together with you and in consultation with the senior study coach. An individualised learning programme might be needed for example if you are studying with a functional disability (e.g. epilepsy, chronic illness), repeating a year of study, switching to a different study route or requesting exemption for certain parts of the degree course. The senior study coach finalises this individualised learning programme.

8 Exams and final assessments

This chapter sets out the exams, modular exams and final assessments for your degree course.

8.1 Coherent set of units of study

The degree course consists of a coherent set of units of study. These are defined and described in Part 2, chapter 9. Each unit of study has a related exam. An exam can consist of two or more modular exams that have a predetermined weight factor and jointly determine the grade for the exam of the unit of study.

8.2 Exam

The result of an exam for a unit of study is used to determine whether the student has the knowledge, understanding and/or skills and (if relevant) attitude required to successfully complete that unit of study. The assessment dimensions and assessment criteria of the exams and modular exams are set out in Part 2, chapter 9.

8.2.1 Entry requirements

Some units of study have entry requirements for participating in educational activities, exams and modular exams for that unit of study. The entry requirements are provided in the unit of study descriptions in Part 2, chapter 9.

The following entry requirements apply to your degree course:

- You need to have passed one or more other specific exams or modular exams;
- You need to sufficiently master the language in which the unit of study is given;
- You need to have earned a certain number of credits.

You can submit a well-reasoned request to the board of examiners for permission to deviate from these entry requirements.

8.2.2 Mandatory participation

Not applicable.

8.2.3 Exam format

The format of an exam or modular exam is specified in Part 2, chapter 9, in the description of the unit of study concerned. The board of examiners may deviate from this format in special cases, on request or at their own initiative.

8.3 The examiner

Each exam and modular exam is designed and assessed by one or more examiners, as decided and appointed by the board of examiners.

The examiner determines the outcome of the exam or modular exam and the result. If more than one examiner is appointed, the head examiner sets the final result.

8.3.1 When have you passed an exam?

The examiner gives the result of an exam as a grade.

The result of an exam is expressed in one of the following numbers: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 or 10.

You pass the exam if you earn a grade of 6 or higher.

You fail the exam if you earn a grade of 5 or lower.

In the case of fraud, an F is recorded for the exam result in SIS.

8.3.2 When have you passed a modular exam?

The examiner gives the result of a modular exam as a grade.

A grade for a modular exam is rounded to a number with 1 decimal place.

Grades with the decimals 1, 2, 3 or 4 are rounded down.

Grades with the decimals 5, 6, 7, 8 or 9 are rounded up.

Contrary to the main rule above, the result of one or more modular exams can be expressed in a grade or in the qualification 'pass' or 'fail'. The unit of study descriptions in Part 2, chapter 9, specify which modular exams are assessed with a grade and which with a 'pass' or 'fail'.

You pass a modular exam if you earn a grade of 5.5 or higher or the 'pass' qualification.

You fail a modular exam if you earn a grade of 5.4 or lower or the 'fail' qualification.

In the case of fraud, an F is recorded for the modular exam result in SIS.

8.3.3 How is the overall grade calculated for an exam with modular exams?

When the overall grade for the exam is calculated, the grades earned for the modular exams are weighted as specified in the unit of study descriptions given in Part 2, chapter 9. The final exam grade is then rounded as follows:

Exam grades with the decimal 1, 2, 3 or 4 are rounded down to whole numbers.

Exam grades with the decimal 5, 6, 7, 8 or 9 are rounded up to whole numbers.

8.3.4 Applicable result

The final grade for an exam or modular exam is the highest grade achieved. You are allowed to resit an exam or modular exam even if you pass it.

8.3.5 When are you awarded a 'pass/fail' qualification for an exam?

Contrary to section 8.3.1, a pass/fail can be given instead of a grade in the following cases:

a) you are exempt from one or more modular exams, so the result of that exam cannot be expressed in a grade,

b) the HAN conversion tables do not apply, you passed an exam that is part of a flexible minor at an institution of education abroad or with a different Dutch institution of education, and your results for that exam cannot be converted into a result as referred to in section 8.3.1.

8.4 Participation in exams in the post-propaedeutic phase

If you have a propaedeutic certificate for this degree course or for a degree course at another university of applied sciences with the same CROHO number, or you have an exemption for the final propaedeutic assessment, you will be enrolled in the post-propaedeutic phase and you can participate in the education and exams for the post-propaedeutic phase.

If you have not yet earned your propaedeutic certificate, you can ask the board of examiners for permission to participate in the education and exams of the post-propaedeutic phase. You do not need to request permission if you meet the study progress requirement. This automatically gives you permission to progress to the post-propaedeutic phase. For the study progress requirement, see Part 2, chapter 6. Any entry requirements as referred to in section 8.2.1 still fully apply.

8.5 Number of exam opportunities each academic year

You have two opportunities each academic year to take an exam or modular exam. The descriptions of the units of study in Part 2, chapter 9, specify how many exams and modular exams are conducted each academic year and in which term.

Please note that if the degree course has more than 2 exam opportunities a year, you may still only use two of those opportunities.

In the following exceptional situations the unit of study description in Part 2, chapter 9, may stipulate that only one opportunity will be offered each academic year for students to take the exam or modular exam:

- if the nature of the education and assessment for the unit of study make it impossible to offer a second opportunity. In this case, the student should receive an indication sometime during the unit of study of whether their performance so far is sufficient for them to pass the exam or modular exam for that unit of study, or,
- if it is not possible to offer a second opportunity due to physical or logistic reasons and the next opportunity cannot be offered until the following academic year, and
- an alternative has been offered that prevents further study delay.

The student will be informed of this exception when they apply for the unit of study and, if possible, before the start of the academic year.

8.5.1 Registering for exams and modular exams

Part 2, chapter 9, describes whether, how and by which date you have to register for an exam or modular exam.

Please note: For all exams and modular exams held after 31 January 2023, you need to register for the exam and modular exam opportunities you wish to participate in. The 'OSIRIS Regulations for Education, Exams and Modular Exams' in Part 3 of this degree statute stipulate what is expected of you regarding registering and deregistering for exams and modular exams held after 31 January 2023. These regulations also stipulate the exceptions for a number of situations where registration is not necessary for certain exams and modular exams.

8.5.2 Request for extra exam opportunity or another exam format

You can submit a request to the board of examiners for an extra opportunity for an exam or modular exam.

You can submit a request to the board of examiners to take an exam or modular exam in a different format.

The request must include a good motivation and at least a description of the reason and importance.

The Regulations of the Board of Examiners (see Part 3) gives further details on the procedure.

8.6 Modified exam format

Do you have a disability or chronic illness, or is there another reason such as pregnancy that means you cannot participate in the regular format for the exam or modular exam? Then you can ask the board of examiners to give the exam or modular exam in a format modified to your situation.

The board of examiners will decide, if needed after consultation with you and the examiner, which format can reasonably be used for the exam or modular exam, which facilities will be offered and which different rules will apply.

8.7 Oral exams and oral modular exams

An oral exam or oral modular exam is conducted by means of a conversation between the examiner(s) and the student. Oral exams and oral modular exams are public. In special cases, the board of examiners can deviate from this rule. This decision will be announced and explained to everyone involved.

8.8 When is the result of an exam announced?

It depends on the exam format when the result of an exam or modular exam is announced:

- You will be informed of the result of a written exam or written modular exam within at least 15 working days. This result will be recorded in the study information system (SIS).
- The result of an oral exam or oral modular exam will be decided directly after the exam and announced within no more than five days. This result will be recorded in SIS.
- You will be notified of the result of a practical exam or practical modular exam immediately after the exam, or if that is not possible, within five working days. This result will be recorded in SIS.

A result entered into SIS may only be changed in the following cases:

- If a demonstrably incorrect result has been entered into SIS.
- In cases of fraud, deceit or impersonation.
- If an examiner has revised their assessment for well-founded reasons.
- If you have lodged an appeal to the Examination Appeals Board or the Higher Education Appeals Tribunal against an assessment, the appeal is judged to be valid and the result has been revised by the examiner.

Has a result changed after being entered into SIS? Then you will be notified.

8.9 Exams: review and discussion rights

You are entitled to receive further explanation about the assessment of your exam or modular exam. This is set out in the HAN rules on discussion and review rights below. Both the discussion and individual review are closely monitored to ensure no fraud takes place.

Discussion and review rights are organised as follows:

8.9.1 Group discussion

Within 10 working days after the results of an exam or modular exam, the examiner organises a group discussion, unless there is clearly no need for this among the students.

8.9.2 Review and discussion of individual work

After the group discussion or if there was no group discussion, you as an interested party are entitled to review and discuss your own work with your lecturer and the examiner, unless you could reasonably have already done this during the group discussion. You are allowed to review and discuss everything: the assessed exam or modular exam, the questions, assignments and grading system. Students must have the option to review and discuss their own work within 6 weeks after the result.

8.9.3 Other exam formats

If an exam has been administered in a format that cannot be reviewed or discussed as outlined in the procedure above, the unit of study description in Part 2, chapter 9, will specify how the review and discussion is organised. The same principles will be guaranteed as in sections 8.9.1 and 8.9.2.

8.10 Exams taken independently of the standard programme

An exam or modular exam taken independently of the standard programme is an exam/modular exam you can participate in without following any of the educational offerings of the unit of study. If you would like to participate in an exam or modular exam taken independently of the standard programme, you can submit a substantiated request to the board of examiners. The request must include at least a description of the reason and importance.

The board of examiners will make a reasoned decision based on the evidence submitted within 20 working days.

If this decision is positive, you can participate in the exam or modular exam. If the regular exam or modular exam is not suitable for that, the board of examiners will appoint the examiners and decide on the exam format, in accordance with the relevant exit qualifications and assessment criteria given in Part 2, chapter 9.

8.11 When and how can you request exemption for an exam or modular exam?

Part 2, chapter 9 describes for each exam and modular exam which knowledge, understanding and skills and attitude you need to demonstrate and how they will be assessed. You can request an exemption from the board of examiners for one or more exams or modular exams if you demonstrate that you master the knowledge, understanding, skills and attitude associated with the exam concerned. You can demonstrate this with:

- evidence showing you previously passed an exam in higher education;
- an official report showing recognition of prior learning;
- evidence you gained the required knowledge, the required understanding and/or the required skills elsewhere.

The assessment dimensions and assessment criteria of the exams and modular exams as specified in Part 2, chapter 9, form the guidelines for the board of examiners to grant the exemption.

Instead of a grade or the 'pass' qualification, you receive the qualification of 'exemption' for an exam or modular exam.

The procedure for granting exemptions can be found in the Regulations of the Board of Examiners (Part 3).

The board of examiners may designate certain previously passed exams and modular exams, and/or any previously earned credits and degree certificates as entitling students to exemption from one or more exams or modular exams.

The designated exams, credits and certificates are outlined in an appendix to the Regulations of the Board of Examiners.

The board of examiners may also consider these as grounds for exemptions for one or more exams or modular exams for units of study that are part of the abridged track as referred to in Part 2, chapter 3.

8.12 The final assessments

Bachelor courses at universities of applied sciences have two official final assessments. The final assessment of the propaedeutic phase, and the final bachelor assessment at the end of the degree course. You pass the final assessments if you have passed all of the exams related to those final assessments. This will differ if the board of examiners decides that an extra assessment is needed of your knowledge, understanding and skills. In that case, you will also need to pass that extra assessment (exam). Only then will you pass the final assessment.

8.12.1 Cum laude

If you pass all the exams that count towards the final assessment with a grade of 8 or higher on your first attempt, you will pass that assessment 'cum laude'. Exams from the propaedeutic phase count towards the final propaedeutic assessment and exams from the post-propaedeutic phase count towards the final bachelor assessment. The grades that count here are the overall exam grades for each unit of study; separate grades for the modular exams are not taken into account. If an exam comprises several modular exams, only the grades for the modular exams that were passed on the first attempt will count towards the required grade of 8 for the exam. One exception can be made to this rule for each final assessment. This exception is that for each final assessment a student may resit one modular exam and the highest result then counts towards determining whether they receive the 'cum laude' distinction. If an exam does not consist of several modular exams, students may resit that exam.

Exams that are part of an increase of your study load, as described in Part 2, chapter 5, are not taken into consideration when determining the 'cum laude' distinction.

You may earn no more than 30 credits in exemptions or 'pass' qualifications in the propaedeutic phase, and earn no more than 75 credits in exemptions in the post-propaedeutic phase.

8.12.2 With merit

If you pass all the exams that count towards the final bachelor assessment with a grade of 7 or higher on your first attempt, you will pass that assessment 'with merit'. The grades that count here are the overall exam grades for each unit of study; separate grades for the modular exams are not taken into account. If an exam comprises several modular exams, only the grades for the modular exams that were passed on the first attempt will count towards the required grade of 7 for the exam. One exception can be made to this rule. This exception is that a student may resit one modular exam and the highest result then counts towards determining whether they receive the 'with merit' distinction. If an exam does not consist of several modular exams, students may resit that exam.

Exams that are part of an increase of your study load, as described in Part 2, chapter 5, are not taken into consideration when determining the 'with merit' distinction.

You may earn no more than 75 credits in exemptions or 'pass' qualifications in the post-propaedeutic phase.

8.13 Overview of results, supporting documents and declarations

8.13.1 How can you request a – certified – overview of your study results?

You can make a printout of your exam results as recorded in SIS. If you want to use this overview as an official document outside HAN, you can submit a request to the Student Affairs Enquiry Desk for a certified overview of study results. This certification does not guarantee that the relevant authorities will also consider the document official.

8.13.2 Exam documentation

You will receive signed documentation from the examiner for each exam or modular exam you take. This may be a digitally signed document. It gives the name and code of the exam or modular exam, the unit of study and your result. The examiner is required to provide you with this documentation.

Keep these documents in a safe place.

8.13.3 Statement

Are you dropping out of the degree course and not entitled to a propaedeutic or bachelor degree certificate? If you have passed more than one exam, you can ask the board of examiners for a statement listing the exams you passed, for which degree course, how many credits you earned for those exams and, if applicable, the programme for which the statement is being issued.

8.13.4 Module certificate

Not applicable.

8.14 Degree certificate, degree and diploma supplement

8.14.1 Propaedeutic certificate

Once the board of examiners has confirmed you have passed all the exams for the propaedeutic phase, and confirmed that you are enrolled at HAN for the degree course concerned and that you have met all your financial requirements towards HAN, the board of examiners will award you the propaedeutic certificate for the degree course.

Please note that from the moment OSIRIS is put into use as the study information system, the following applies: Once you have passed all the exams for the propaedeutic phase, you can apply for your certificate through OSIRIS. Only after you apply, the board of examiners checks whether you have indeed passed all exams for the propaedeutic phase, whether you are enrolled in the degree course, and whether you have met all your financial obligations towards HAN. Following this, the board of examiners will award the propaedeutic certificate.

8.14.2 Bachelor degree certificate and diploma supplement

Once the Executive Board has awarded the degree, and confirmed that you are enrolled in the degree at HAN and have met all your financial requirements towards HAN, the board of examiners will award you the degree certificate for the bachelor course and the corresponding diploma supplement in English.

Please note that from the moment OSIRIS is put into use as the study information system, the following applies: Once you have passed all the exams for the degree course, you can apply for your certificate through OSIRIS. Only after you apply, the board of examiners checks whether you have indeed passed all exams for the degree course, whether you are enrolled in the degree course, and whether you have met all your financial obligations towards HAN. Following this, the board of examiners will award the degree certificate and the accompanying diploma supplement in English. The official date of graduation is the day the board of examiners determines that you have earned all the required credits.

8.14.3 Degree and degree title

Once the board of examiners has confirmed you have passed the final bachelor assessment, the HAN Executive Board will award you the degree for your degree course. This degree comes with an official abbreviation you can place after your surname in the Netherlands and abroad.

You will receive the following degree: Bachelor of Social Work.

This degree title is also stated on the certificate.
The abbreviation related to this degree is: BSW

8.14.4 Extra endorsements

If you have successfully completed a talent programme as described in Part 2, chapter 5, then the details of the programme content and your results will be included on your diploma supplement. The talent programme will also be mentioned on your degree certificate.

8.14.5 Different issuing date for bachelor degree certificate

You can request the board of examiners to issue your degree certificate at an earlier date. The board of examiners will agree to this.

You can request the board of examiners to postpone issuing your degree certificate. This postponement can be granted for no more than two years.

Please note that from the moment OSIRIS is put into use as the study information system, the following applies: if you do not want to graduate after you have passed all the exams in your degree course, you need to submit a request to the board of examiners to postpone issuing your degree certificate.

You can postpone graduation for up to two years. If you do not reapply for the degree certificate within two years, your degree certificate will automatically be issued in OSIRIS after no later than two years.

If you do not apply for your certificate after you have passed all exams, and you do not request a postponement within the set time frame, the board of examiners will nevertheless proceed to issue the certificate no later than the end of the academic year.

8.15 Appeal

You can lodge an appeal with the HAN Examination Appeals Board against a decision concerning the education, exams, modular exams and final assessments within 6 weeks based on the education and examination regulations.

For more information about which decisions you can appeal and how, go to HAN Insite: Insite Start English \(han.nl\) > Queries and Complaints.

9 Description of the education (the units of study)

This chapter describes your degree course in the form of a curriculum overview and description of the units of study, starting with the units of study in the propaedeutic phase, then those of the post-propaedeutic phase and finally those of the minors.

9.1 Units of study in the propaedeutic phase, level 1

Content and organisation

General description	The unit of study focuses on the first step (orientation) in the methodical cycle. In social work, you can come across a variety of target groups who call upon your knowledge and skills as an international professional in different ways. Your focus as an international social worker is always to promote social functioning and social quality. What this means exactly and what it requires from you depends on the target group and the context in which you work. We challenge you to gain in-depth knowledge of the target group you will be working with and the corresponding profile. This enables you to learn about the possibilities, opportunities and wishes, as well as the limitations, problems and impossibilities.
Exit qualifications	- Qualification 1: Being actively open, making contact and picking up signals.

Activities and/or instructional formats	The focus of the Thematic Lab lessons is largely on the knowledge, skills and attitudes you need as an international social worker to work with individuals. You will work on this assignment during the lessons and in self-study time, and you gain input for this in practice. Lecturers and students give shape to the lessons together.

Content and organisation

General description	As an international social worker you act with purpose. This means you know what you want to achieve and your actions are always guided by that. The unit of study focuses on the different steps in the methodical cycle. You work together with the people involved to determine their starting situation and their wishes and goals. In this unit of study you learn to contribute to an individual's quality of life at your internship organisation. You map capacities and burdens for quality of life, you formulate the first steps needed to achieve that person's goals and you recommend an effective social intervention.
Exit qualifications	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - Qualification 1: Being actively open, making contact and picking up signals. - Qualification 2: Empowering people and their direct surroundings to actively shape their own and others' wellbeing, development and social participation. - Qualification 11: Thinking and acting creatively.

10 Evaluation of the degree course

10.1 Evaluation structure

A quality framework has been adopted for all HAN degree courses. This is in line with the accreditation framework of the Accreditation Organisation of the Netherlands and Flanders (NVAO) and the education policy formulated by HAN. This framework stipulates, among other things, that regular evaluations must be held among students, graduates, the professional field and staff.

Assessments are also held by HAN to support the evaluations at the level of the degree course. Each year all HAN degree courses participate in the National Student Survey (NSE) in which students indicate how satisfied they are with different aspects of their degree course. Every year an alumni survey is held via the HBO-monitor. This evaluates for each degree course how alumni look back on their degree course and how well it was geared to the labour market in their experience.

HAN students who leave a degree course without a degree certificate are contacted to enquire about their reason for leaving. Also, study progress and drop-outs are monitored for each degree course.

Every six years an accreditation is held by the NVAO, with external reviews beforehand by a committee of experts. Halfway through the accreditation cycle, an audit is conducted by an internal committee complemented by an external expert in the relevant field. The aim is to monitor and test the progress of improvement measures relating to the last external assessment of the degree course. This internal audit results in a report with improvement recommendations for those responsible for the content of the degree course, the degree committee and the dean. The audit is conducted according to HAN guidelines and it includes quality assurance with regards to administrative and educational law and good implementation of the education and examination regulations.

10.2 Evaluation by the degree course

The dean is responsible for the structure and the quality of the degree course.

Each year the dean adopts an annual quality assurance report on the degree course. This document, along with the internal audit report or review report, forms the basis for dialogue about the quality of the degree course. This report concerns the improvement activities that were agreed on for the reported year, how they were executed and what results they delivered.

Based on the analysis of evaluation data for the reported year, a description follows of the improvement activities to be implemented in the current year. The evaluation data come about through evaluations of units of study, annual evaluations and curriculum evaluations by lecturers, students, alumni and the professional field. Also through evaluation studies conducted centrally by HAN.

The school manager and/or the degree committee, curriculum committee and the board of examiners are involved in this cycle at degree course level by means of a brief response to this. Their responses are included in the appendixes to the annual report.

10.3 Role of the degree committee

The tasks, role and responsibilities of the degree committee in the evaluation are set out in the Regulations of the Degree Committees (see Part 3). The degree committee can also take the initiative to conduct specific evaluations.

10.4 Degree-specific quality assurance

Social Work is a new degree course. The starting points have been outlined for its quality assurance. This plan will be translated into a more operational plan and eventually be shaped into a quality plan and adopted in consultation with the degree committee. There is a great deal of attention for the quality culture we wish to achieve. This attention is evident in the quality plan for the degree course, where we describe how that quality culture will be measured and evaluated. To achieve this quality culture, dialogue is needed on the quality of education between colleagues, students and the professional field. This means ownership of the quality assurance is organised by those involved and as close to the primary process as possible: meaning by the lecturers and students.

We have teams of lecturers who are responsible for results so we can gain insight into the quality of the education. These teams draw up team plans describing the choice of quality assurance instruments and approach used to discuss improvement plans with those involved. Each year, students are given the opportunity to fill in the National Student Survey (NSE) during class. The teams decide with the students how lecturer evaluations will be held. This can be done digitally, for example, or in student meetings with coordinators. The school manager writes an annual report and reports on the management and quality agreements that are made. This annual report describes which improvement measures will be taken for the current year. In addition, an internal audit report or inspection report is used for internal and external dialogue on the quality of the degree course.

A key aspect of quality assurance in our degree course is that we share our vision of good education with all stakeholders: lecturers, students, staff, professionals and researchers. From this vision we extract the aspects on which we evaluate the degree course as a whole as well as its constituent parts, and the criteria by which we can assess what is going well and what could or should be improved. The most important aspects of good education are:

- cooperation across education, research and the professional field, focused on continual improvement of professional practice;
- personal education in small groups and learning communities;
- high-quality, challenging and activating education;
- a good educational organisation, including excellent communication and information facilities;
- tailored support that makes students feel seen and heard;
- maximum talent development through the provision of options (minors, profiles, internships, etc.), challenging learning environments and attention for personal development (Bildung);
- space for the student as partner;
- expert lecturers.

The degree committee is an essential partner in quality assurance. In consultation with the degree committee, agreements are made on areas for evaluation and improvement.

The education teams conduct evaluations among students, lecturers, professionals and researchers. They ensure that the findings of the evaluations are discussed and result in efforts to reinforce aspects that are going well and revise aspects that could or should be improved.

11 Transition regulations

11.1 Effective date for amendments

An amendment to the education and examination regulations can only become effective as of 1 September in the following academic year. Exceptions to this rule are clerical error, force majeure, fulfilment of legal regulations or when the amendment is in your favour.

This chapter sets out the rules for respecting acquired rights and legitimate expectations.

11.2 Validity propaedeutic certificate

A successful final propaedeutic assessment and certificate are inviolable, except in the case of proven fraud in the process of earning this.

11.3 Obtained credits and study results

The result of an exam and its corresponding credits remain valid until the board of examiners has made a substantiated decision that the examined material is so outdated that it can no longer be used in the profession and the term of validity has expired as of a date stipulated by the board of examiners.

Results obtained for modular exams remain valid, and may – if they still fit in the new programme – lead to exemptions for modular exams.

11.4 Participation in education, but not in (modular) exam or has not passed (modular) exam

A student who has participated in the educational activities for a unit of study in the academic year prior to the programme change, but who has not completed an exam or modular exam or has not passed an exam or modular exam, is entitled to repeat the educational activities at least during the academic year in which the change takes effect, and is entitled to at least two opportunities to take the (modular) exams.

The board of examiners can deviate from this in exceptional cases, in the favour of the student. If you like, you can directly choose the new programme structure and register for a renewed or modified unit of study. By doing so, you waive your rights concerning the transition rules.

11.5 Degree-specific transition regulations

The tables below show the sub-exams from 2021-2022 – which will no longer be part of the study programme in 2022-2023 – for which there will be 2 possibilities to take the (sub-)exam in 2022-2023 and whether there will be any educational support programmes offered. For sub-exams from previous years that are no longer part of the curriculum and that have not yet been passed, see the equivalence tables on OnderwijsOnline.

Hij laat de student onder voorbehoud het tentamen afmaken en neemt alle bescheiden in waarmee de vermoedelijke onregelmatigheid/fraude heeft plaatsgevonden. De surveillant vult dit formulier in en levert dit met alle bescheiden na afloop van het tentamen direct in bij de coördinator-surveillant. De student ontvangt een kopie van het ingevulde formulier. Via het Tentamenbureau gaat het formulier vervolgens naar de examencommissie. De examencommissie neemt contact op met de student.

2 OSIRIS Regulations for Education, Exams and Modular Exams

1. Regulations for Registration and Deregistration in Educational Components, Exams and Modular Exams in OSIRIS

1. Registering for educational components⁵

- a. You need to register for the educational components in which you plan to participate. If you have not registered, you cannot participate in the educational component.
- b. The degree course may specify that a maximum number of students can participate in a certain educational component. If applicable, this is stated in Part 2 of the degree statute (the education and examination regulations), in the chapter 'Description of the education'.
- c. The degree course may decide that registration is not required for a certain educational component⁶. If applicable, this is specified in the description of the educational component in Part 2 of this degree statute (the Education and Examination Regulations), in the chapter 'Description of the education'.
- d. You do not need to register for educational components in the first term of the first academic year of a full-time degree course starting in September or February⁷. If registration is required in the first term for certain electives, this will be specified in Part 2 of this degree statute (the Education and Examination Regulations), in the chapter 'Description of the education'.

2. Periods in which you can register for educational components

- a. Registration for educational components is open from 20 working days before the start of the education term until no later than 10 working days before the start of the educational component. If a different period has been set for certain education components, this period can be found in the description of that specific component in Part 2 of the degree statute (the education and examination regulations), in the chapter 'Description of the education'.
- b. A different registration period may be set for the education related to minors. This period can be found in the description of that specific educational component in Part 2 of the degree statute (the education and examination regulations), in the chapter 'Description of the education', for the degree course offering the minor.

3. Registering for educational components after the deadline

- a. You can no longer register after the deadline has passed. You can submit a request for post-registration⁸ by sending an e-mail to ASK@han.nl no later than the day before the start of the educational component.
- b. You will be granted permission if there is no maximum number of students as referred to in article 1 under b and if the format of the degree course allows for post-registration.
- c. If a maximum number of students is specified, you will still be given permission if this maximum has not yet been reached and if the format of the educational component allows for post-registration.
- d. The degree course may decide post-registration is not possible for certain educational components. If applicable, this is specified in the description of the specific educational component in Part 2 of the degree statute (the education and examination regulations), in the chapter 'Description of the education'.

⁵ This includes the 'educational arsenal' of degree courses in units of learning outcomes.

⁶ This is only possible if the degree course arranges the registration.

⁷ The degree course will register first-year students in the educational components for the first term.

⁸ Explanation: this means requesting to still be allowed to participate in the educational component, with the consequence that (if permission is granted) you will be registered by Study Progress.

4. Deregistering for educational components

- a. If you do not want to participate in an educational component for which you have registered, you must deregister no later than the day before the start of the educational component.
- b. When you deregister, the automatic registration for the first exam sitting is cancelled as stipulated below in article 5 under b.

5. Registering for exams and modular exams

- a. You need to register for exams and modular exams in which you want to participate. If you are not registered for an exam or modular exam, you cannot take that exam.
- b. There is one exception to this rule: when you register to participate in an educational component, you are automatically registered for the first exam or modular exam opportunity for that component. If you want to participate in a different exam or modular exam sitting, you need to deregister (see article 8 below). If you do this, don't forget to register for the exam sitting you want to participate in.

6. Registration periods for exams and modular exams

- a. Registration for exams and modular exams is open from 20 working days before the examination term / education term until no later than 10 working days before the exam date.
- b. If a different period has been set for certain exams and modular exams, this period can be found in the description of that specific educational component in Part 2 of the degree statute (the education and examination regulations), in the chapter 'Description of the education'.

7. Registering for exams and modular exams after the deadline

- a. You can no longer register after the deadline has passed. You can submit a request for post-registration⁹ by sending an e-mail to ASK@han.nl until 09:00 one working day before the exam or modular exam sitting.
- b. You will be granted permission if the organisation (required capacity and support) of the exam or modular exam allows for post-registration. If, in view of the facilities or support already arranged by HAN, it is not possible for you to participate in the exam or modular exam, you will not be allowed to register after the deadline. If no additional facilities, capacity or support is needed for the post-registration or if these have not already been arranged, you will receive permission for post-registration¹⁰.

8. Deregistering for exams and modular exams

- a. If you decide not to participate in the exam or modular exam, you must deregister prior to the exam or modular exam sitting.
- b. Deregistering for an exam or modular exam can be done up to one working day before the exam or modular exam sitting.
- c. If you are registered for an exam or modular exam, but do not participate and do not deregister, this will count as an exam opportunity used and an 'ND' will be recorded for the exam or modular exam result in SIS. If there were special circumstances that prevented you from deregistering and/or from participating, you may apply to the board of examiners for an additional exam opportunity. See the section 'Request for extra exam opportunity or another exam format' in Part 2 of the degree statute (the education and examination regulations), in the chapter 'Exams and final assessments'.

⁹ Explanation: this means submitting a request to still be allowed to participate in the exam or modular exam, with the consequence that (if permission is granted) you will be registered by Study Progress.

¹⁰ After the deadline has passed, HAN will arrange exam rooms (and supervisors) for those who have registered. If, for example, there is still one seat left in a room, a student who requests post-registration just after the registration deadline may be permitted to participate. If a second student makes a request, their request will be rejected, because the room will then be 'booked up'. This means that as long as facilities have not yet been arranged, a student's request cannot be rejected and post-registration is still possible.

9. Technical problems

If you encounter problems while registering or deregistering for educational components, exams or modular exams and you are unable to register or deregister, report this by email to ASK@han.nl before the end of the registration period.

10. Effective date of these regulations

These regulations will come into effect as soon as HAN starts using the OSIRIS student registration system and will apply to educational components, exams and modular exams held after 31 January 2023. The course department will ensure proper communication with students about when they need to start registering for educational components, exams and modular exams through OSIRIS.
